

[redacted] change [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] time [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] for [redacted]
[redacted] you [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] to [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]

[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted] leave [redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]
[redacted]

// Original

Question: Where do you come from?
A fabled Civilization, a city with no light
Question: why did you leave?
I was looking for better feet for this land
for this ground
for this rock

Question: How did the transition change you?

I learnt to walk again.

Question: Did we walk enough though?

There's always more to explore, you can never walk enough

Question: What is walking after all? I mean, everyone has told me I do it all the time but what is it really?

That is a question I can only answer for myself, to me walking is progress, not just lifeless action that takes you places, walking is a means to dive deeper into diversity and experience life up close

Question: who defines close?

Don't we all? And then interpret it differently every time i remember my mother. she told me that the closest thing to you is your body. what did other people say?

I never paid attention but I think they might agree